New Books. ABRIDGEMENT OF THE DEBATES OF CONGRESS, Vols. 15 and 16, from 1843 to 1850. By Troc. H. Benton. D. Affeleton & Co., publishers, New York. For sale by Bowen, Stewart & Co., Indianapolis. We have frequently referred to the Abridge ment as an important and valuable addition to the political literature of the country. The present volumes contain the debates upon many topics of great interest. The tariff, the annexation of Texas, the Mexican war, the admission of California, and the compromise resolutions of Mr. Clay are among the number. The debates upon these questions can now be read with profit, as many of the subjects then discussed have an important bearing upon the compromises of the present day. The Abridgement should be in every public and Delta, publishes some verses upon her birth-day, private library, as it contains valuable information and very queerly says: upon the current political history of the country not otherwise accessible. We trust the enterprise of the publishers may be suitably remunerated.

A National Hymn. Daniel Webster said of the following poem: "This beautiful, 'The Rock in the Wilderness,' from the pen of General Morris, contains the whole history of the landing of the Pilgrims in sixteen lines. It is the best ever written, besides being the shortest :" A rock in the wilderness welcomed our sires From bondage far over the dark rolling sea; On that holy altar they kindled the fires, Jehovali, which glow in our bosoms for Thee.

Thy blessings descended in sunshine and shower,
Or rose from the soil that was sown by Thy hand;

The mountain and valley rejoiced in Thy power, And seaven encircled and smiled on the land. The Pilgrims of old an example have given Of mild resignation, devotion and love, Which beams like a star in the blue vault of heaven, A beacon light swung in the mansion above; In church and cathedral we kneel in our prayer. Their temple and chapel were valley and hill; But God is the same in the aisle and the air,

And he is the Rock that we lean upon still.

Away, away, before the gale. Under bare poles I'll go-I'll reef my breeze-inviting sail When tempests rudely blow, Or spread it, when a tender tale The south-wind whispers low."

That strikes us as hardly modest, but then the poem, which closes as follows:

With the dead past beneath my keel, My log-book turned anew; steadfast purpose, true as steel, Shall guide me safely thro'. So now the helm—through woe or weal, o now the helm—through Stand pilot, firm and true!

CIFT BOOKS. VALUABLE GIFTS

[From the Cincinnati Independent.] THE GIFT BOOK STORE OF A. A. KELLEY, NO. 28, West Fourth street, is an establishment which claims the attention of the citizens of Cincinnati. Established by menstruation, Whiles Chlorosis, Liver Complaints, Chronic Headaches, Rheumatism, Intermittent Fevers, Pimples on the Face, &c.

In cases of General Debility, whether the result of scate for a splendid gift with each book worth from diseases or of the continued diminution of nervous and muscular energy from chronic complaints, one trial of this restorative has proved successful to an extent which no KELLEY, originator of this certainly laudable method of distributing popular and meritorious books, at the least possible cost to the purchasers, among the teeming millions of this vast and rapidly expanding Republic, feels it a duty and pleasure to announce that he has leased the spacious and elegant building, No. 28, West Fourth street, Cincinnati, Ohio. description or written attestation would render credible.

Invalids so long bed-ridden as to have very nearly become entirely forgotten in their own neighborhoods, have suddenly re-appeared in the busy world, as if just returned from protracted travel in a distant land. Some very signal lustances of this kind are attested of female sufferers, emaciated victims of apparent maramus, sanguineous exhaustion, critical changes, and their complication of nervous and dyspeptic aversion to air and exercises for which the physician has no name.

In Dyspepsia, innumerable as are its causes, a single box of these Chalybeate Pills has often sufficed for the most habitual cases, including the attendant costiveness. In unchecked Diarrhea, even when advanced to Dysentary, confirmed, emaciating, and apparently malignant, the effects have been equally decisive and autom-bing.

In the local pains, loss of flesh and strength, debilitating cough, and remittent hectic, which generally indicates incipient consumption, this remedy has allayed the alarm of friends and physicians in several very gratifying and interesting instances.

A. A. Kelley, as early as 1854, it was the first enterprise of the kind introduced to the public. We stepped into Mr. Kelley's establishment and were astonished at the large thorities, both in Europe and the United States, and prescribed in their practice. The experience of thousands daily proves that no preparation of Iron can be compared with it. Impurities of the blood, depression of vital energy, pale and otherwise sickly complexions indicate its necessity in almost every conceivable case. Innoxious in all maladies in which it has been tried, it has proved absolutely curative in each of the following complaints, viz:

the physician has no name.

In Nervous Affections of all kinds, and for reasons familiar to medical men, the operation of this preparation of iron must necessarily be salutary, for, unlike the old oxides, it is vigorously tonic, without being exciting or over-heating; and gently, regularly aperient, even in the most obstinate cases of costiveness, without ever being a gastric purgative, or inflicting a disagreeable sensation.

It is this latter property, among others, which makes it so remarkably effectual and permanent a remedy for Piles, upon which it also appears to exert a distinct and specific action, by dispersing the local tendency which forms them.
